INTERESTING SERVICES AND SERMONS IN THE CHURCHES. AC.

OBSERVANCE OF THE DAY.

Cheerily and brightly the sun rose yester-EACH WEEK, ACCORDING TO THE PROVIS- day morning, as if intent on ushering in, with all possible brilliancy, the great festival of Christianity. The attendance at the city churches was unusually large, the ladies and children having donned their gay spring toilets in honor of the occasion. From the reports we give below of the services at the various churches, it will be seen that these were of an unusually solemn and impressive character.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCHES. The Catholic church has always been remarkable for the imposing ceremonies which mark the observance of all her great festivals. Nothing calculated to fill the minds of the SABGENT.—Sargent has, come again. He worshippers with religious fervor is neglected; opens at the Hibernian Hall to-night. One and the pens of the most celebrated composers hundred and fifty gifts are to be distributed. of music, both of ancient and modern times, have been laid under contribution to aid with their works these religious displays.

At the Cathedral chapel yesterday morning solemn pontifical high mass was celebrated, Right Rev. Dr. Persico being the celebrant, ham, Quigley and Schacte. The altar was ablaze with tapers, and profusely adorned with spring flowers. The sermon was preached by Right Rev. Bishop Lynch, from the 15th chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians, and was explanatory of the significance and fruits of the resurrection of our Lord, for the commemoration of which the day had been set apart. The music on the occasion consisted of Farmer's Mass, in B flat, which was effectively rendered by the choir, assisted by a fine orchestral accompaniment. The chapel was densely crowded by a full congregation, besides very many persons of other denominations. At. St. Mary's Church high mass was sung, the Rev. C. B. Northrop officiating. The sermon was preached by the Rev. R. Baker, D. D., who chose for his subject the Gospel of the day. It was an eloquent and scholarly production, and was listened to throughout with deep attention.

The music was the "Kyrie," "Gloria," and "Credo" from Mercadente's Mass in D minor, and the "Sanctus Benedictus" and "Agnus Dei" from Haydn's Third Mass in C. The regular choir were assisted by some of the most thorough musicians in the city, and from beginning to end there was no room for anything but praise. With the opening bars of the "Kyrie" the choir proved their ability and skill, and throughout the "Gloria," including the singing was marked by unusual vigor, expression and precision. The "Incarnatus," tenor solo, and the "Unum Sanctam" were sung with great taste, and the spirited "Vitam Venturi" was delivered with excellent effect. THE EPISCOPAL CHURCHES.

A generous rivalry seemed to have sprung up between the ladies of the several Episcopal congregations in regard to the Easter adornment of their churches, and the sacred edifices were indeed elaborately and handsomely decorated.

The Easter services at St. Michael's were of a peculiarly interesting character. The church was beautifully decorated with wreaths and festoons of cedar, interspersed with flowers, and the chancel was spanned by an inscription in large letters, "Christ is Risen." The large chandelier which hangs from the ceiling in the middle of the church was tastefully wreathed with garlands, and, viewed from the gallery, struck us as pecaliarly beautiful. The music, which is always fine, was, on this festal occasion of the church, unusually impressive. All the chants were new and were well rendered by the choir. The rector, Rev. P. T. Keith, preached from Luke, xxiv., v. 34: "The Lord is risen indeed." The sermon was devoted to ANNIVERSABY OF THE SAVANNAR FIRE DE- a discussion of the mysteries of the Resurrec-

Text: 1 Peter, first chapter, third verse. In the afternoon the annual Sunday School celebration took place.

The Church of the Holy Communion was beautifully adorned with evergreens and flowers. The service was read by the Rev. A. Toomer Porter, who also preached from Acts, Professor Buddock, was fine: 17th chapter, v. 18: "He preached unto them Jesus and the Resurrection." The congregation was an unusually full one.

At St. Paul's Church, Radeliffeboro', the decorations were simple yet exceedingly tasteful, the flowers and evergreens being all wrought by the hand of nature. The chef d'œucre in the way of ornaments was a marble column in the rear of the chancel entwined with red and white flowers, artistically placed in a green wreath running from top to base, the column being surmounted with an elaborate leaf-cross. The galleries and organ loft were festooned in green, and the font bloomed with white lilies. The music partook of the character of the festival. The rector, Dr. Lord, performed the services. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. C. Hanckel, from graceful and expressive, the tre!ti were regular 1st St. Peter, 1, 3 and 4, and portrayed the magnitude of the sacrifice our Lord had made for mankind, and the completeness of his victory over death and triumph over the grave.

THE HUGUENOT CHURCH.

The services at this church did not vary masions. The music was, as usual, exquisite, sermon by Rev. Mr. Vedder was preached from the 22d Psalm, and part of the 26th verse. "They shall praise the Lord that seek Him."

At St. Paul's Church, Society-street, there were a large number of communicants at the 7 o'clock Mass and at High Mass, at which the Rev. Mr. Shadler officiated and preached. The church was crowded. Father Shadler took as his text Psalm 117 v. 24: "This is the day which the Lord hath made. Let us be glad and rejoice therein." In the course of an excellent and instructive discourse he made the

The reverend speaker enlarged upon and applied these truths with his usual force, clearness and elegance of diction.

THE LUTHERAN CHURCHES.

The English Lutheran Church was very tasticongregation. Above the pulpit on the wall Mass was also celebrated and the Easter ser- altar, the panels of the galleries and the columns were each adorned with garlands of wreaths of evergreen relieved by white flowers, while a handsome boquet bloomed over each gas jet. The organ loft was decorated with a harp in evergreen, inscribed with the motto "Laus Deo." The services were performed in the presence of a full congregation by the venerable pastor, the Rev. Dr. Bachman, assisted by the Rev. J. H. Honour. The sermon was preached by Dr. Bachman, who chose for his text 1 Corinthians, chapter xv. v. 53.

The German Lutheran Church, on Haselstreet, was crowded long before the hour for service. The pulpit was beautifully decorated on all sides with garlands of evergreen and wreaths of wild orange blossoms. Over the entrance to the pulpit was a wreath of wild ninety-six Theses on the door of the Church of | ton, which concludes with this paragraph : Wittenburg. The galleries were likewise ornamented. In a circle around the altar were the communicants—girls dressed in white and boys in black-who participated in the Sacrament for the first time. The choir, under the leadership of Prof. A. J. Hoffman, rendered the solemn music of the church most effectively. The sermon was preached by the pastor, the Rev. L. Muller, from the text to be found in 1 Corinthians, chap. 15, verses 55, 56, 57. Such was the throng in the church that only about one-third of the congregation could partake of the Lord's Supper.

OTHER SERVICES.

In the College Chapel an unusually large congregation was present to listen to a discourse by Rev. E. T. Winkler. The text selected for the occasion was from 1 Corinthians, fourteenth chapter, fortieth verse: "Let al prevalent in the early Christian churches. I noticed in your issue of the 8th instant, that you have repeated and emphasized the term Society, in a controversy with "Carl Benson," "and I take this opportunity to beg you to 'tell your readers what you mean by the "term Society. Is Society here in Charles-"ton merely a set or coterie of a few prein-"diced individuals who associate together to the exclusion of all others and to be the society? Or is Society here like 'that in all other cities, the ensemble of persons most noted for their education and the polish of their manners."

That letter, as you see, had not for its object any justification of "Carl Benson's" criticism of our social manners and pronunciation, but to obtain from the Mercury their ideas of what constitutes Society in Charleston. So many different ideas (and of course some of them must be erroneous) prevail here, that I deem it a great favor to the public if some one. speaking by authority, will settle this vexed question. But the Mercury has not seen fit to notice my queries and enlighten the public. doubtless deeming the vulgarity of my name. and consequent low origin, a sufficient reason for ignoring my communication. I, therefore, am forced to solicit this information from you. Will you please define this term society, and greatly oblige,

Yours respectfully. BUSINESS NOTICES.
